BANGKOK, 1974

FOREWORD

In 1968, the Thai National Documentation Centre (TNDC) compiled and published "Technical Journals for Industry" on behalf of the International Federation of Documentation (FID). From time to time, TNDC received requests from abroad for references on Thai periodicals in scientific subjects other than industrial. Information on the subjects for the use on responsive services were awaiting publication.

In 1973, Unesco Field Science Office for South East Asia in Djakarta requested the Centre's cooperation on the part of Thailand in revising its "Preliminary List of Scientific Journals in South East Asia". Later in the year after the establishment of the International Serials Data System (ISDS) within the framework of the World Science Information Programme (UNISIST), the Centre was designated a National ISDS Centre to provide all the information needed for the identification of the serials published in the country. To comply with these requests, TNDC amassed all the work done and collected additional titles for the publications of the "Directory of Scientific and Technical Periodicals in Thailand", and the "Directory of Thai Government Serials".

This "Directory of Scientific and Technical Periodicals in Thailand" includes journals in all fields of science as well as medicine, agriculture, technology, economics and sociology relating to industry. Periodicals are grouped in subject-wise pattern according to the Universal Decimal Classification (UDC). Entries are numbered and arranged in alphabetical order by title together with all information leading to their identification. Abbreviation n.a. is used when data elements are not available but would be supplied when obtained in future. A general subject index is also provided to facilitate quick reference.
